

Blink Program

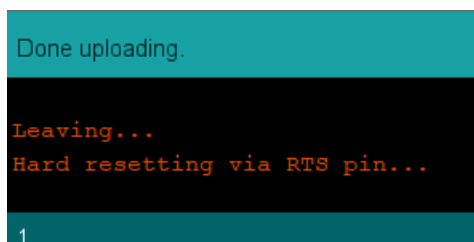

Now that the compilation environment is set up, it is possible to upload a test program.

Click the  button to start compiling.

Click the  button to upload.

The device should start turning the led on for a second and off for another second.